

STUDENTS

A. Generally

The principal of a school, for sufficient cause within the scope of the board's policies, may recommend to the superintendent the expulsion of a student from school.

The principal shall attach to his/her written recommendation all supportive evidence as to the act or actions of the student prompting the recommendation and evidence of all previous efforts made by the staff to assist the student in the case where the recommendation is the result of a series of acts by the student.

After consultation with the principal, the parents and the student, and an examination of the evidence presented him, the superintendent or his designee may recommend to the school board that student be expelled. The parents or guardian of the student shall be notified in writing of the time and place of the meeting at which the board will consider the recommendation for expulsion and of the charges against the student. The parents or guardian shall be given a copy of the board's policy on expulsion and this administrative regulation.

During the interim period between the principal's recommendation of expulsion and the action of the school board, the student is considered to be suspended from all school activities and school functions and is prohibited from being on school premises. The principal shall follow the regulations for suspension during this interim period.
